Separation rule

This file contains expected answers. It must remain separate from first listeners until all first-listen responses are complete and locked.

Scoring principles

- Score meaning rather than exact wording.
- Do not score motive, sympathy or artistic preference as factual comprehension.
- A repeated confident alternative from multiple listeners is stronger evidence than one omission.
- Attempt performance, mix and cue remedies before changing text.
- Deliberate ambiguity is not a failure when the listener does not invent a false causal event.
